

Dr Alinka Fisher

Associate Lecturer, Flinders University and Chair, PBS Community of Practice

'Positive Behaviour Support: So what can we do?'

Dr Alinka Fisher is a Developmental Educator with 12 year of experience in PBS for individuals with ASD and acquired brain injury with complex behaviour support needs. Alinka completed her PhD in PBS, during which she developed and trialled the FAB-PBS program. Alinka coordinates and lectures in PBS within the Bachelor of Developmental Education, Flinders University. She is an active researcher in this field, and a regular presenter at conferences. Alinka is also the Chair of the PBS Community of Practice in SA and provides PBS consultation in the disability sector, including professional development workshops for staff and families.

Positive Behaviour Support - Session Subject Matter

- Learn to implement Positive Behaviour Support strategies in behaviour support plans
- What does this mean to a modern-day Disability Support Worker?
- How do they relate to Restrictive Practices?